SOUTH SCRANTON NOTES.

Programme Rendered at the Y. W. C. A. Rooms—Two Persons Injured—Other Matters.

In spite of the inclement weather, a large crowd assembled in the parlors of the South Side Young Women's Christian association last evening to greet Miss Van Nort, secretary, and Miss Esther Rolands, assistant secretary, who have recently returned from a tour through New England.

A short but very excellent programme was rendered, after which both Miss Van Nort and Miss Rolands gave interesting talks on scenes in New England, and graphically described many historical and picturesque ones. The following was the programme:

Recitation.....Mr. Bash
Piano solo.....Miss Anna Schuler
Vocal solo.....Miss Alida Schuler
Piano solo.....Miss Ida Schuler

The funeral of Mrs. Anna Shoemaker took place Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock from her home on Prospect avenue and was largely attended. The funeral services were held both at the house and cemetery by Rev. Fieringer, of the Prospect Avenue Methodist church, who spoke touchingly on the life of the departed. Interment was made in Pittston avenue cemetery. The pall-bearers were Fred Schwenker, Ulrich Schwenker, Oscar Straub, William Weyand, Charles Kossman and Jacob Grossman.

Of all the fishermen of South Scranton, and they are legion, Mr. Henry Armbrust, Jr., the well-known butcher of Cedar avenue, ranks highest in this season's catch.

One day last week Mr. Armbrust, with proper bait and tackle, and a basketful of edibles, quietly went to Lake Henry, and returned the next day with eighteen fine large pickers, an average weight of two pounds each. Mr. Armbrust is prepared to make an affidavit to this statement.

THEATRICAL.

The Gaiety Opens.

The remodelled Gaiety, which this season is under the management of Harvey Long, threw open its doors to the public yesterday. Notwithstanding the opposition of the audience, the house was filled to capacity. The improvements made in the theater during the summer months, and which have heretofore been a subject of comment, were favorably commented upon by those who visited the house yesterday. "It looks like a theater now," was a remark frequently made.

The evening attraction was Gottlieb's Gipsy-trance, which came direct from Tony Pastor's theater in New York. The company was not satisfactory and the engagement was cancelled last night by Manager Long. The house will be dark today and tomorrow.

King Dramatic Company.

The King Dramatic company, headed by Lawrence Gratton, opened a week's engagement yesterday afternoon at the Academy of Music with "The Cotton King." The house was filled to overflowing and not one of that vast crowd left the theater dissatisfied. No better piece could have possibly been selected for a Labor Day matinee, as the play is filled throughout with "capital and labor" situations. Lawrence Gratton, the leading man of this company, is far the best all around leading man that has ever stepped a foot on the Academy stage with a repertoire of organization. His acting, under a great many such in this city, is natural and the ease and grace in all his movements was very noticeable. Miss Standish, a very pretty and charming lady, was seen in the leading feminine role of Betty and was all that could possibly wish, her portrayal of the part showed very plainly her taste, and ability as an actress.

Arthur J. Lyons, in a very acceptable villain and it did not take him long to have the gallery shouting against him. The piece was handsomely staged, all special scenery being used and at the King Dramatic company carry all its scenery to some stage was in evidence.

In the evening the beautiful play which has been presented here many times before and which is one of the best of the season, "The Power of the Press," was presented to a very large audience, every seat in the theater was sold in spite of the big storm outside. Lawrence Gratton was in charge of the play, and Miss Standish as Anna Carson, Steve's wife, was fine. Arthur J. Lyons as Turner Morgan, George's father, was excellent. William S. Clair as Mr. O'Connell, all deserve special mention, as their work certainly merited it last evening.

The lady members of the company, Miss Laura Emmers, Helen Jones and Ella Machie, were excellent in their respective roles.

A new departure has taken place with this company, speciality of a very high order are in the hands of the company. The audience immensely enjoyed the specialty given by St. Clair and Lechner was for the first time in the city, and the audience with a vengeance. The scenery displayed last night was beautiful in every detail, all was bright and new and showed to advantage, "The exterior of the Manhattan Athletic club," a scene in South street, New York; "Singing Prison" and the bath Mary Vale at anchor, which were all worth the price of admission charged. This afternoon "Fanny" will be played in its entirety the scene on the summit of the Broken is one of the greatest pieces of stage craft ever produced. This evening the great New York success, "The Cherry Pickers," will be presented.

Secret Service at Lyceum.

"Secret Service," Gillette's masterful American drama, was presented at the Lyceum last night by an exceptionally good company. Unfortunately the heavy downpour of rain that set in just at theater-going time and continued until late in the evening, resulted in the play being witnessed by a very small audience.

Initial presentation of "Secret Service" when this company was at the Lyceum with the "The Boy and Amy Body" in the leading roles saw it, of course, at its best. It is a question, though, if the presentation last night of its excellence through Miss Augusta True, who sustained the character of Edith Varney, created by Miss Bushy. Miss True does very creditable work.

Walter D. Green as Benton Arctosted was too late to see the play. Miss Anna Viala and Kingsley Benedict as the young comedy lovers attracted themselves most acceptably. A clever line of character work was done by Miss Estelle Gilbert as "Martha," the negro house servant.

The play was put on with the same elaborate effects and care as to details which characterized its production under Mr. Gillette's personal supervision. It is one of the very best theatrical entertainments on the boards today.

Eurekas Defeat the Modocs by Score of 11 to 3.

For seven innings the Eurekas and Modocs battled at Athletic park, yesterday afternoon, in a well-played game of base ball, and then rain stopped further play, with the score 11-3, in favor of the Eurekas. About 700 persons were present, and the North Scranton friends of the Eurekas brought along a brass band to cheer their favorites on to victory. The features of the afternoon were the batting of Keenehan, the Eureka first baseman, and the pitching of Regan of the same nine, who fanned out seven Modocs.
